Washington, Aug. 26—The nation today is waiting eagerly for organized labor's answer to President Wilson's appeal for a truce in industrial disputes. The eyes of the labor leaders here were turned toward Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who is to land in New York from Europe. Labor officials here hope Gompers will come to Washington at once. The council of the Federation of Labor is scheduled to meet as soon as Gompers arrives. While the results of the President's appeal to labor as a whole turn upon Gompers' arrangements, developments are scheduled from the railway shopmen, whose demands were the immediate cause of President Wilson's appeal and whose leaders are in a conference here today. The shopmen are to issue statements setting forth their position in answer to the declaration. This answer offers them an increase of 4c an hour instead of the increase that they asked, ranging from 17c to 27c an hour. It was accompanied by an appeal to their patriotism to forgo demands for wage increase until normal conditions could be restored. It was the general belief here that the shopmen would take another strike referendum on the President's reply before accepting.

Union Officials Disgusted
Cleveland, Aug. 26—"Miserly and inconceivably small," were the characterizations by the officials of two unions of the railway workers here today, of the offer of 4c an hour increase to shopmen by the railway administration. "The increase is so inconceivably small" that I will wait for official word," said William Heringer, chairman of the American Federation of Railway Workers local here. Timothy Shea, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen refused to make any comment. The two say that if the report of the increase is true "it seems miserly."

Washington, Aug. 26—Postponement of the settlement of wage demands until normal economic conditions are restored was announced today by President Wilson as the policy which the administration will pursue in dealing with such questions particularly those affecting railroad workers.

Increased Rates
The President announced also that it was neither wise nor feasible at this time, when the most important question before the country is a return to a normal price level, to attempt to increase freight rates to provide funds for higher wages.

"We ought to postpone questions of this sort until we have the opportunity for certain calculation as to the relations between wages and the cost of living," the President declared in a statement to the public explaining his decision as to wages.

"It is the duty of every citizen to insist upon a truce in such contests until intelligent settlements can be made, and made by peace and effective common counsel. I appeal to my fellow citizens of every employment to co-operate in insisting upon and maintaining such a truce."

Demands Covered
Mr. Wilson's statement was issued in connection with the decision of himself and Director General Hines on demands by railroad shopmen for a 25 per cent advance in wages, but the general policy pronounced covers also the wage demands of other hundreds of thousands of railroad workers, which are pending before the director general or about to be presented. It is to be expected that other unions trying to obtain more pay will be asked, as the shopmen, to play their part with other citizens in reducing the cost of living by foregoing a temporary advantage which would add to transportation costs.

The decision of the President and the director general was announced to a committee of 100, representing the shopmen. In reply to their demands for a 25 per cent increase.

Pay Adjustment
The shopmen were asked to accept an adjustment of their pay to the basis of 10 hours' pay for eight hours' work, which they contended was given other employees and denied them when the Adamson law became effective. This means an advance of the basic pay from 68 cents to 72 cents an hour, whereas an increase of 17 cents to 85 cents an hour was demanded.

Rate Retroactive
In view of the delay of the railroad administration board on wages and working conditions in reporting on the demands of the shopmen, Director General Hines recommended that the new rate of pay be made retroactive from May 1, although the board's report was made July 16, the date of report generally being taken as the retroactive date.

Under the new scale of wages machinists, tool makers, boiler makers, riveters and electricians, all of whom now receive 68 cents an hour, will receive 72 cents. Helpers will receive 49 cents an hour instead of the present wage of 45 cents.

Acting President Jewell of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, and his advisers, said they would communicate the decision to the union locals for acceptance or rejection. A strike vote completed yesterday, but not yet tabulated, was on the question whether the men should quit work to enforce consideration of their demands by the railroad administration instead of by a congressional commission as first suggested.

As this plan was abandoned, the vote whatever its result, is non-effective and the shopmen now have an entirely new question before them.

The dispatch which appeared today in the papers tells of the massacre and deportation of able bodied men. They have also made a systematic effort to discredit the Poles and drive them out of Sicilia.

Overlooked Mentioning 10 Millions Profit

L. D. H. Weld, of Swift and Company Charged with Omitting to Tell of Ten Millions in Profits

Washington, Aug. 26—By United Press—Senator Gronna, chairman of the senate agricultural committee today, charged L. D. H. Weld of Swift and Company with omitting all about $10,000,000 which he stated that company in 1918 profited, while considering the Kenyon and Kendricks bills. "I don't say you did it intentionally," Gronna explained, but from the testimony of Louis F. Swift, he having been before this committee last spring, it appeared you overlooked some.

Weld testified that "Swift & Co. made $14,000,000 more last year than in 1917, while Swift stated his concern made $3,000,000 last year," Gronna said.

"Mr. Swift was not conversationally exact with his figures and that was not exactly what he meant," Mr. Weld said.

"I don't see why I have to take your statement in preference to that of Mr. Swift," Gronna said. "He owns the concern."

President Takes Personal Charge of the Shantung Fight

BY L. C. MARTIN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Aug. 26—President Wilson has taken personal charge of the fight against the Shantung amendment to the peace treaty, senators believe, following his unexpected call on Senator Swanson, in Swanson's office late yesterday. Swanson today declined to discuss for publication the result of the conference, but it was learned that in the forty-five minute conference Shantung was the burden of the conversation.

The president was said to view with concern the possibility that the action of the Foreign Relations committee in the Shantung amendment as to returning the territory to China instead of giving it to Japan will be approved by the full senate.

HOME WATERS AFFORD LUXURIES OF OCEAN TRAVEL PLUS A PANORAMA OF SCENIC BEAUTY

Thirty-five years a skipper on the Great Lakes; twenty-four years in the employ of one company; eleven years in command of the SS. Keewatin without missing a trip on her during that time, is the proud record of Malcolm McPhee, who is known to the army of summer travelers that held to the theory that no vacation is complete without a bit of water travel.

Captain McPhee is as enthusiastic about the scenic beauty of his thirty-nine hour run from Port McNicoll to Fort William as is any traveler who makes it for the first time. And well he may be. Port McNicoll is a Georgian Bay, famous in story and also in real life, as attested by the thousands who spend their summers on the bite of green that dot the blue waters of the Bay. Ft. William, at the head of Lake Superior, presents a quite different style of scenery, being staged against the hulking outlines of the Sleeping Giant, a great rocky headland that towers above the towering elevators that rim the waterfront. Much of the voyage is made in sight of land. Sometimes it is the dark outline of the mainland that beckons in friendly fashion more often the boat dips and courts to some pretty island, for there are islands without number and they vary in extent from a mere speck holding aloft a lone pine, to a great Indian Reserve embracing hundreds of square miles. Passing through the locks of the Soo Canal is a matter of keen interest. Many people take the trip for this experience alone. These canals, built at a cost of more than twenty-five million dollars to the American and Canadian governments, present a busy scene, as several vessels are always passing through while others are anchored at either end waiting their turns to enter the locks. The slow passage through the canal affords ample opportunity to enjoy the Soo Rapids that parallel the canal. Life on board the "Keewatin" and her sister ship, the "Assiniboia," is conducive to full enjoyment of the panoramas that nature unfolds. The dining saloons that extend the width of the boats, are provided with large plate windows and diners are served a fresh view with each course of the meal. There is abundance of deck space for promenading, especially on the boat deck, while the veranda cafe with its piano provides for outdoor dancing. The round trip constitutes a delightful way in which to spend a week's outing so as to get the maximum of rest and recreation.

PARTIAL TO LAMB

Armenians Make Meat Staple Article of Diet.

Methods of Preparing It Seem Strange to Those Accustomed to Western Cooking—Eggplant a Favorite Vegetable.

Lamb appears to be the basic item of the Armenian diet if one is to judge by the number of Armenian dishes in which it plays a part. No less than 23 ways of using this meat are given in a list of typical Armenian dishes prepared by an expert.

Roast lamb with matzoan sauce and lamb broiled whole are substantial features of Armenian banquets. Then there is boiled lamb, lamb roasted in paper, lamb roasted with tomato, whole spring lamb roasted, lamb stuffed with rice, steamed lamb, lamb broiled, hunter style; lamb grilled on skewers, braised lamb with wine sauce, braised lamb with currie, braised lamb with tomato sauce, braised lamb with onions and braised lamb in paper dishes seasoned with peas.

Kouzou kapama is an elaborate lamb dish in which the meat is steamed with scallion and lettuce; kouzou guvey is lamb roasted in an earthen pot with rice and tomatoes.

Eggplant is a favorite Armenian vegetable which is often used with the lamb to make a delicious dish. Hun-kat beyendi is mashed eggplant and potted lamb; patjan cheop kebap is fried lamb and eggplant grilled on skewers; eggplant stewed in lamb broth and braised lamb and eggplant are other savory dishes.

All sorts of vegetables and even fruits are stewed in lamb broth to give them that richness which is a feature of the national taste in cooking. Fresh peas, artichokes, string beans, celery, leeks, spinach and quinces are mentioned in Armenian culinary lore as being the better for simmering slowly for some time in the lamb broth. A variation dish is nohud yahn, Turkish peas stewed with onions in lamb broth.

Ouscoumri dolma is an elaborate Armenian dish, composed of mackerel stuffed with onions, pine nuts and currants, fried in olive oil and served cold. Eggplant stuffed with rice and onions and cooked in olive oil is also served cold. Fassouli pulaki is beans stewed with vegetables and olive oil and served cold.

Pine nuts and currants are favorite ingredients of stuffing, appearing not only in the stuffed mackerel but also with rice as a stuffing for turkey in a dish called Hindi dolma. Harpoot keofteh are delicious boiled meat balls prepared with cracked wheat and stuffed with meat, pine nuts and currants. Stuffed vine leaves, yalanli dolman and yaprak sarma are other favorite dishes. The leaves of the grapevine are used for the outer wrappings of these viands. In the yalanli dolman rice and onions already cooked through are wrapped in the vine leaves and the whole again subjected to a slow simmering process in olive oil. In the yaprak sarma the rice and meat are cooked together or, rather, the rice is cooked in a rich stock and then wrapped in the vine leaves and simmered in oil.

The names of these Armenian dishes cannot be translated according to their sound, for hashama is not an effort to orientalize the well-known boarding house viand of lamb hash, but

Boston or St. Botolph's Town is a seaport in Lincolnshire, England, on the River Witham, and four miles from its mouth, with a wharfage of 2,330 feet. In the days of the Plantagenets it was one of the chief British seaports, but the silting in of the river has been an obstacle to its growth of late years, almost continual dredging being necessary to keep a passage to the sea, even for small vessels. Its church tower, St. Botolph's, is a well-known conspicuous landmark, depended upon also by mariners at sea.

Woman 70, Has Five Degrees, Wants Six

(By United Press)

Madison, Wis., Aug. 26.—One of the graduates of the Summer session at the University of Wisconsin, was Mrs. Ellen A. Copp, 70, and a grandmother. She pursued studies in sociology and economics, preparatory to receiving a degree of doctor of philosophy.

Mrs. Copp already had five college degrees and is author of several books. She was one of the two first two "co-eds" at Pennsylvania State college and was one of the first women to take a theological course and to be ordained to the ministry. Among the several pastorates she held was one at Evansville, Wis. This is her second summer session at the Badger university. She received the degree of bachelor of laws at Wisconsin in 1910.

Mrs. Copp received the master's degree at the time her daughter graduated from Hillsdale college. On the day her eldest son received his first degree, she received the degree of bachelor of divinity. When her second son graduated from the engineering course she received the degree of bachelor of laws. She hopes to complete her doctor's degree in another year.

PUT ONE AROUND YOUR HAT

Colorful Hatband Has Power to Rejuvenate Old Headgear Into Unbelievable Newness.

There is a perfect magic to the colorful hatband. It has power to make a stupid hat positively dashing. It can rejuvenate an old hat into unbelievable newness. Just about this time the sport hat that has been on the go since early spring, begins to show its age. Try a bright bit of banding on the weary headpiece, and see if it doesn't take a new interest in life.

Nor need the band be an elaborate thing or difficult to make. It might be like this: Two-inch unfigured ribbon of taffeta or satin, grosgrain or velvet with two rows of stitched squares arranged alternately, checkerboard effect, and worked up with silk or cotton or wool, whichever contrasts most effectively with your ribbon.

Divide the ribbon band in half on the length with a faint pencilling. Then mark it off with two-inch spaces. Now "fill" alternate spaces with over-and-over stitching. If you haven't any particular color scheme in mind, what do you think about this ultramodish one: Tea rose on jade? Or you might like to keep to the checkerboard suggestion and try black on red squares. It would be ever so fetching on a black hat.

Net, Wool and Beads.

A new kind of trimming is coarse net run with strands of white wool and with rows of beads sewed on as an edge. This fabric is sold at the trimming counters all ready to incorporate in a frock, but it is also possible to make it at home.

This trimming is used in banding outdoor clothes. Of course, when it is finished the net does not show, and therefore the bands are heavy enough to use on white serge, jersey and other summer sport fabrics.

HOW TO REACH RHEUMATISM THROUGH THE BLOOD

Powerful Iron in liquid form makes rich, red blood and drives uric acid out of the system forever.

It is now generally known that Rheumatism is caused by uric acid, which is formed in the blood and deposited through thousands of little capillaries and nerves in different parts of the body.

If you have healthy, rich, red, strong blood, you will never have Rheumatism. Healthy blood eliminates uric acid, and does not allow it to stay in the body to cripple and pain.

The accurate and reliable method of getting this great essential into the blood is through the use of a natural form of soluble iron known as Acid Iron Mineral. The nerves are immediately strengthened, bodily vigor is restored and the general improvement of all ailing conditions prove that the blood is getting the iron it must have to maintain perfect health. With the blood thus made healthy, uric acid is eliminated and driven out of the system, even in cases where the trouble is of long standing, and has failed to respond to other methods of treatment.

This new way of driving Rheumatism out of the system through the blood made pure and strong with this natural soluble iron—Acid Iron Mineral—is being adopted by thousands as fast as the story can be told. There is no need to suffer longer—you can be on the road to recovery today. And in driving Rheumatism from your system, this remarkable liquid iron blood maker will give you stronger nerves, more power in every way.

If you suffer from Rheumatism in any form, no matter of how long standing, you owe it to yourself to start using Acid Iron Mineral at once. Do not miss this opportunity. Call at your druggist today. Why suffer any longer?

Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt has filed suit for divorce in Newport, R. I., alleging desertion for the last five years. Newport society understands that Mr. Vanderbilt will not contest the action and that no alimony will be asked. Mrs. Vanderbilt asks custody of their only child, Cathleen, now in her sixteenth year. Mr. Vanderbilt, youngest son of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, inherited a share of his father's estate estimated at $10,000,000. Said Eagles Photographed.

A. S. Dockham, photographer of the Lafayette National park, has succeeded in making a photograph of two young bald eagles in their nest near Eagle lake, Maine, in the top of a high maple, 50 feet from the ground. Mr. Dockham erected a platform on which a ladder was raised. The ladder top was 60 feet above the ground and commanded a fine view of the nest. He clamped his camera on the ladder and led a string from the shutter to the croch of the tree about 20 feet lower. Here he remained and watched the nest. In order to obtain the photographs he was forced to remain in the tree for five hours.

Milwaukee's "Medicinal" Water.

The city of Milwaukee has been greatly bothered with a peculiar taste in its drinking water. The water is obtained from the lake and is chlorinated before distribution. At first it was thought that the chlorine produced the taste, but a series of tests proved that this was not the source of contamination. There seems to be some connection between the intensity of the taste and the direction of the wind, and finally the source of trouble was located in a couple of plants, one three miles away and the other eight miles away, which were producing coal tar products.

BABCOCK AMENDMENT

When a local paper comes out and advocates voting against the Babcock amendment, the writer of such a statement evidently has not traveled country roads to Minneapolis.

The Babcock amendment is the only comprehensive plan at present before the people to hard surface roads connecting one county seat with every other county seat. True, it taxes the automobile owner, but the latter is willing to pay and get the era of good roads established in this state within a few years.

A dirt road and a log drag are both good for keeping a roadway in fair condition where traffic is moderate. But the immense tourist business is making Minnesota its goal and cars from about every state of the union are thronging to the lake country. The dirt roads, even when reinforced with clay and gravel, are giving way and chuck holes galore are springing up.

During the Mc-Garry-Walker tour one car broke its frame negotiating the Jefferson highway. If a hard-surfaced road is desired now, if Minnesota is to hold its ever increasing volume of tourist trade benefitting alike farmer, merchant, hotelman, lake resort man, etc., then put through the Babcock law.

To those who object to the Babcock amendment, have they anything to offer in its place?

If any further argument is needed for a hard surfaced road, then drive to Minneapolis, compare your chuck-hole dirt road with the Osseo-Minneapolis cement paving. Shortly the road will be all cement from St. Cloud to Minneapolis. Every automobile driver in Minnesota has heard of Osseo.

"Osseo, where the cement paving begins," is the standing phrase. That paving saves your tires, your car, your gas, your temper, your money.

Vote for the Babcock amendment. The Babcock supporters could do no better thing than erect a large sign at the head of the Osseo cement paving so that each user of the road this week will read:

"Vote for the Babcock amendment and you will travel from your county seat to the fair on the same kind of cement paving."

Rebuilding France

(By United Press)
 Paris, (By Mail)—France has restored over 1,250 miles of railroads in the devastated districts since the signing of the armistice. This mileage is in addition to the 1,000 miles which had been provisionally repaired before the actual end of the fighting. Less than 200 miles of destroyed roadbed remain unserviceable.

Of the destroyed railways between Paris and Belgium on the Northern Railway nearly 98 per cent of the portions out of service last November have been restored. On the Eastern Railway the restoration has been less complete, but even on this line which suffered heavily on the Champagne and Verdun fronts, over 80 per cent of the lines are again being used.

Much of the restoration work has had to be of a temporary nature because of the shortage of materials. The hardest work was encountered in the region about Verdun and along the valley of the Meuse where numerous tunnels and bridges were destroyed. Nearly one half of the restored mileage has been on double track lines.

The rebuilding of the network of canals is progressing almost as rapidly as the railway work. The total destroyed mileage of canals exceeded 700 miles, together with 450 bridges and 115 locks. By October 1 the greater portion of these lines of cheap transportation will have been rebuilt.

Simultaneously with the railroad rebuilding, the factories in many of the "martyred" cities are resuming production on a small scale. Machinery, stolen by the Germans, is being collected in all parts of Germany and shipped back to the almost empty factories in Lille, Laon and St. Quentin. Already over 25,000 tons of stolen machinery and material have been gathered and shipped while even a larger quantity has accumulated in German stations awaiting shipment. This machinery was identified by a French commission.

Though making heroic efforts to reassert herself in the linen industry, the city of Lille is making but little progress because of the absence of spinning machines. Of over 500,000 spindles which were operated in and about Lille before the war less than 12,000 are working now. The others were destroyed or carried away by the Germans. In the meantime Lille believes that the predominance of her linen industry has been lost for all time, as other nations have made a quicker start since the end of the war.

WOMAN ROBBED ON ROAD

Hold-up Men Take $10 and Throw Away Check for $300

Winona, Minn., Aug. 24.—Mrs. Henry Simon, wife of a farmer, was held up and robbed yesterday afternoon by masked bandits while she was returning to her home after hauling grain to Elgin. Only a meager description of the men was given by the frightened woman. Before leaving the village she was induced to deposit the $300 she received, retaining only a check and $10 in cash.

When Mrs. Simon reached a lonely spot in a grove the two men sprang out and, with revolvers, demanded her money. She protested that she had none. One held the horses while the other seized her pocketbook. He threw the $300 check away, taking the $10.

American Day Forces Invade British Isles

(By United Press)
 London (By Mail)—British "dry" forces, reinforced by the Anti-Saloon League of America, are completing their plans, and marshalling their "stormtroopers" for a mighty offensive commencing this Fall. And Johnny Bull is sitting up and watching with considerable interest, uncertain whether he ought to be amused, scared or angry.

Immediately the lid went on in the United States, William E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson, Field-Marshal Commander-in-Chief of America's "dry" army, established a branch G. H. Q. in London, and proceeded to show local prohibitionists just how to wage war on booze. Hitherto, although there had been an occasional prohibition movement in Great Britain, the "drys" had made very little headway, the only really prominent man identified with the movement being the late Sir Wilfrid Lawson, who aroused controversy some years back by emptying his inherited wine-cellar down the drains.

Prohibition was represented in England by the United Kingdom Alliance, but the organization was not well equipped with funds, and was so out of date in its methods that the "wets" ceased to regard its members as anything more dangerous than "bum-walkers," a strange sect who participated in orgies of tea-drinking and bun consumption. But "Pussyfoot" Johnson has changed all this.

Canon Masterman, president of the U. K. A. recently visited America to find out how the "wets" there had been overwhelmed. He fixed up an alliance with the Anti-Saloon League with the result that another A. E. F. was soon on the high seas.

Johnson established himself quietly in Fleet Street—the home of newspapers and publicity, but so skillfully were his opening moves made, that he succeeded in avoiding attracting attention for some months. Then he disclosed himself. It would be rash to suggest that he captured the powerful Northcliffe Press, but it says much for his generalship and tactics that he managed to secure a magnificent advertisement out of a hostile organization.

Lord Northcliffe's papers discovered his presence and taking up the role of Dickens' Fat Boy, the Daily Mail proceeded to make Johnny Bull's flesh creep with lengthy stories of "Pussyfoot's" aims, antecedents, methods and chances of success. J. Bull was slightly amused, but as the whole Northcliffe artillery—the Times, Weekly Dispatch, Evening News, Daily Mirror, and others—joined in the attack, British "wets" began to realize that they must be busy.

A big defensive campaign was opened, and hair-raising stories of American prohibition methods were published, hysterical campaigning and Napoleonic victories. The "wets" tearfully appealed to that much criticized autocrat, the British Working Man, to repudiate the sponsors of grapejuice and similar "soft" drinks with fantastic names. They reminded him of his old war-cry "Damn his eyes, whoever he tries, to rob a poor man of his beer." And they succeeded in making Mr. B. W. M. sit up and think "there might be something in it."

Meanwhile the much discussed "Pussyfoot" Johnson, satisfied with his first demonstration, had departed for Finland to organize an offensive in Northern Europe, but he left a promise to return in the fall. The full weight of the counter-offensive accordingly fell upon the poor old United Kingdom Alliance, which "frightfully bucked" by the prominence given to its aims, and the promise of solid support from American "drys" nevertheless wilted before the storm of protest.

The announcement that many leading American temperance orators are on their way to England to take part in the fray gave the "wets" a popular battle-cry, with the inevitable warning "Hands off, America. Mind your own interference," or words to that effect. The U. K. A. hurried forward with a flat denial, but investigations proved conclusively that the Anti-Saloon League had volunteered to pay expenses of their orators.

In any event, "Pussyfoot" Johnson has made a remarkably good start. Moreover, he has arrived at the most favorable possible moment. Wartime drink restrictions are being gradually pruned down, but everybody agrees that a return to the pre-war hours for saloon opening and the sale of intoxicants is impossible and undesirable.

On the other hand British workers, and in fact the British people as a whole, are fond of a glass of beer. They don't need fancy drinks, but they will have beer.

SCENIC HIGHWAY MEETING

An Important Meeting of the Northern Division Called for Sept. 4 at St. Paul

An important meeting of the Northern Division, Mississippi River Scenic Highway, has been called for Thursday, September 4 at 10:30 a. m. at the St. Paul hotel, St. Paul, and notices to this effect are being issued by F. T. Lincoln, secretary. Brainerd will be represented by C. L. Motl, county director, F. T. Lincoln, secretary and R. R. Wise, one of the original group of good roads advocates who brought about the extension of the highway to this section of Northern Minnesota.

Crow Wing county is one of the first to mark the trail, County Engineer Motl having taken care of this a few days prior to the McGarry-Walker auto tour on July 25. The county organization has been perfected and a good membership secured, through the active work of J. H. Hayes of the First National bank, who was named chairman of the membership committee at the meeting held at the Ramsford hotel early in July.

With this trail properly marked and given the publicity other highways have received, it is felt that it will be one of the most popular and liberally traveled by tourists in trips from southern states to the land of lakes another year and every county along the route is expected to do its part in promoting it and in marking the highway.

The official marking has been outlined and instructions sent to each county director, with an urgent appeal for action.

GENERAL ELECTION SEEN

Trouble Predicted if British Fail to Nationalize Mines

London, Aug. 24—A general strike or a general election, but probably the latter, will be the result of the government's declaration against the nationalization of mines, according to a statement made by Fred Bramley, parliamentary committeeman of the Trades Union congress.

He added that the government's decision was in direct opposition to the policy of the Trades Union congress which supported the principle of nationalization of vital industries and of general resources where monopoly exists.

According to Mr. Bramley, it was a virtual certainty that the issue would be brought to a head at the meeting of the Trades Union congress in Glasgow, September 8.

No Meetings July and August
because of No Quorum

During the summer months President J. A. Wilson of the library board has been at his wits end trying to get a quorum together. The lakes and other attractions seems to be interfering with attendance.

The board had a full attendance when its organization was affected and at its next meeting. In July, however, instead of eight board members present, there were only the president and Mrs. W. C. Rasch, vice president. At the August meeting Monday evening, President Wilson, Mrs. Ben Armstrong and the librarian, Mrs. T. E. Jones were in attendance. That was no quorum and no business was transacted.

Matters which must be looked after are putting a new roof on the building, keeping open the library afternoon and evenings except Sunday, new books, etc. The building committee should file its report on work to be done.

Other board members besides those mentioned are Secretary G. W. Chadbourne, George Bouck chairman of the building committee, T. T. Blackburn, J. Murphy and W. C. Cobb.

Election Held Under Archduke's Auspices Would be Unhappy.
Writes Clemenceau

Paris, Aug. 23 (delayed)—The Supreme Council tonight sent the following note to the Hungarian government, in which announcement was made that the council would have no dealings with a government headed by Archduke Joseph or any other member of the Hapsburg family.

"The Allied and Associated Powers have been further considering information derived from our reports and from other sources as to recent events in Budapest. The conclusions are as follows:

Duke's Methods Scored
"They are most anxious to conclude a durable peace with the Hungarian people, but they feel that this cannot be done while the present Hungarian government is in power. That government came into existence, not by the will of the people, but by a coup d'etat carried out by a small body of police, under the protection of a foreign army.

"It has at its head a member of the house of Hapsburg, whose policies and actions were largely responsible for the calamities under which the world is suffering and will long suffer. A peace negotiated by such a government is not likely to be lasting, nor can the Allied and Associated governments give the economic support which Hungary needs.

FORCED LOAN IN ITALY

All Citizens in Kingdom to be Obligated to Subscribe

Washington, Aug. 24—The Italian government will not make a general levy on property, but will obligate Italian citizens living within the kingdom to subscribe to a loan at low interest, the Italian embassy was advised yesterday in an official dispatch from Rome. The amount each citizen is to subscribe will be proportionate to his fortune.

"The Italian government with this measure," said a statement by the embassy, "together with certain taxes to be imposed, according to a statement by Premier Nitti, expects to restore the Italian finances to a condition of stability and regularity with a short time."

HOPMEN OFFERED INCREASE OF 4 CENTS AN HOUR

the representatives of the shopmen said:

"Gentlemen: I request that you lay this critical matter before the men in a new light. The vote they have taken was upon the question whether they should insist upon the wage increase they were asking or consent to the submission of their claims to a new tribunal, to be constituted by new legislation. That question no longer has any life in it. Such legislation is not now in contemplation. I request that you ask the men to reconsider the whole matter in view of the following considerations, to which I ask their thoughtful attention as Americans and which I hope that you will lay before them as I here stated them.

Situation Stated
"We are face to face with a situation which is more likely to affect the happiness and prosperity, and even the life of our people than the war itself. We have now got to do nothing less than bring our industries and our labor of every kind back to a normal basis after the greatest upheaval known in history, and the winter just ahead of us may bring suffering infinitely greater than the war brought upon us if we blunder or fail in the process.

"An admirable spirit of self-sacrifice, of patriotic devotion, and of community action guided and inspired us while the fighting was on. We shall need all these now, and need them in a heightened degree, if we are to accomplish the first tasks of peace. They are more difficult than the tasks of war—more complex, less easily understood—and require more intelligence, patience, and sobriety. We mobilized our manpower for the fighting, let us now mobilize our brain power and our consciences for the reconstruction. If we fail, it will mean national disaster.

Primary Step
"The primary first step is to increase production and facilitate transportation, so as to make up for the destruction wrought by the war, the terrible scarcities it created, and to as soon as possible relieve our people of the cruel burden of high prices. The railways are at the center of this whole process.

"The government has taken up with all its energy the task of bringing the stocks of necessities in the country available at lowered prices stimulating production and very favorable results are already beginning to appear. There is reason to entertain the confident hope that substantial relief will result, and result in increasing measure. A general increase in the levels of wages would check and inevitably raise, not lower the cost of living. Manufacturers and producers of every sort would have innumerable additional pretexts for increasing profits, and all efforts to discover and defeat profiteering would be hopelessly confused.

Reduce H. C. of L.
"I believe the present efforts to reduce the costs of living will be successful, if no new elements of difficulty are thrown into the way, and I confidently count upon the men engaged in the service of the railways to assist, not obstruct. It is much more in their interest to do this than to insist upon wage increases which will undo everything the government attempts. They are good Americans, along with the rest of us, and may, I am sure, be counted on to see the point.

"It goes without saying that if our efforts to bring the cost of living down should fail, after we have had time enough to establish either success or failure it will of course be necessary to accept the higher costs of living as permanent basis of adjustment, and railway wages should be readjusted along with the rest. All that I am urging is, that we should not be guilty of the inexcusable inconsistency of making general increases in wages on the assumption that the present cost of living will be permanent at the very time that we are trying with great confidence to reduce the cost of living and are able to say that it actually is beginning to fall.

Feeling for Future
"I am aware that railroad employees have a sense of insecurity as to the future of the roads and have many misgivings as to whether their interests will be properly safeguarded when the present form of federal control has come to an end. No doubt it is in part this sense of uncertainty that prompts them to insist that their wage interests be adjusted now rather than under conditions which they cannot certainly foresee. But I do not think that their uneasiness is well grounded. I anticipate that legislation dealing with the future of the railroads will in explicit terms afford adequate protection for the interests of the employees of the railroads; but, quite apart from that, it is clear that no legislation can make

"The railways other than what they are, a great public interest, and it is not likely that the President of the United States, whether in possession and control of the railroads or not, will lack opportunity or persuasive force to influence the decision of questions arising between the managers of the railroads and the railway employees. The employees may rest assured that, during my term of office, whether I am in actual possession of the railroads or not, I shall not fail to exert the full influence of the executive to see that justice is done them.

"I believe, therefore, that they may be justified in the confidence that hearty co-operation with the government now in its efforts to reduce the cost of living will by no means be prejudicial to their own interests, but will, on the contrary, prepare the way for more favorable and satisfactory relations in the future.

"I confidently count on their co-operation in this time of national test and crisis."

MAKE STRIKE LAST RESORT

Writer Well Says There Should Be Ample Justification Before Workers Go Out.

Strikes hardly ever accomplish their purpose, because the general public, numerically at least the chief sufferer, always loses patience after a while and does not care how the struggle comes out as long as it comes out, asserts a writer in the Ohio State Journal. Without strong and continued popular support no great strike can be successful, and to win and hold that popular support the strikers' grievances must be very plain to the average mind, very serious and capable of being corrected in no other way. Strikers may injure their employers a great deal and usually do, but they injure themselves more, because employers are generally in a far better position to stand lack of income and other property losses and, if violence begins, the employers have the power of organized government, as well as the power of public opinion, to fall back on. The right of labor to strike when it feels conditions intolerable is conceded by all, but the question of the wisdom of the step remains. Never before in history were employers so alive as now to the justice of sharing their profits generously with employees. Something, perhaps the war, has made men in places of power more considerate of the rights of others not so fortunately placed. There never is a good excuse for calling a strike until every other means of adjusting differences has been exhausted.

BRAINERD PUT UP A GALLANT FIGHT

For Five Innings the Pennant Winners of the Central Minnesota League Held Stillwater

WOOD PITCHED A GOOD GAME

Crowd one of the Largest Stillwater has Seen, Some Novel Umpiring Took Place

Brainerd 2, Stillwater, 3, was the score for the first game of the series between Brainerd, pennant winners of the Central Minnesota Baseball League and Stillwater, champions of the Interstate League.

The day of the battle Sunday was warm, sunny and at 1:30 p. m. long lines of fans were lined up at the gate. Cars for blocks were parked about the outside of the field. Stillwater is a city of hills as visiting tourists soon ascertained as they made their way from the downtown business district to the ball grounds up above.

And Brainerd had its friends in grand stands and bleachers too. One section of the fans was composed of lumbermen from all over the state. George H. Darling, Brainerd lumber foreman, came from Frazee to attend and root for Brainerd. He was accompanied by his son, Chester Darling, returned soldier. St. Paul and Minneapolis sent large delegations of people who formerly lived in Brainerd.

Charles Gustafson, now with a large firm in Minneapolis, yelled for Brainerd till his voice gave out.

Little Falls sent a delegation headed by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Muncy and Chester Tanner. And Little Falls people have promised to be up at Brainerd in full force when the next two games are played with the Stillwater boys at Brainerd August 31 and September 1.

The Game

Contrary to expectations, Brainerd put Wood instead of Patterson on the mound. For five innings he held Stillwater to two hits while Brainerd maintained its lead in the score. He struck out six men.

Morse, for Stillwater, used a splitter which was breaking good and struck out 11 Brainerd men.

Brainerd First to Score

Brainerd was the first to score. In the third inning Stallman struck out, Diedrich singled, Longley fanned, Benda's two-bagger scored Diedrich, Cook got a hit and Armstrong flew out to Shortstop Lawler.

In the fifth inning another score was realized. Diedrich singled and advanced on errors of Center Fielder Klein and Second Baseman Wellman, Longley singled and advanced on an error of center fielder, Diedrich scored. Benda got a base on balls. Cook struck out. Armstrong went out pitcher to first base. Bessemer out on first, first base to pitcher who covered first.

Stillwater Runs

Stillwater scored in the fifth, sixth and eighth innings.

In the fifth inning Left Fielder Teckler made first on a single to shortstop territory, he made third on a balk called on Wood and the sacrifice fly of Berger scored him.

In the sixth Wellman got a two-bagger, Lawler's sacrifice bunt and Morse's sacrifice fly scoring him.

In the eighth with two out, Morse got a pass, was advanced by Schroeder's two-bagger and scored on a passed ball.

Brainerd's Ninth Inning

With the score 3 to 2 in favor of Stillwater, Brainerd went to bat in the ninth. Wood started it in fine shape by getting a three-bagger. Sheffo got one strike and he was replaced by Patterson as pinch hitter. Patterson struck out. Stallman struck out. Diedrich, who had been hitting Morse freely, got a pass. With a man on first and one on third, Longley was an easy out from catcher to first.

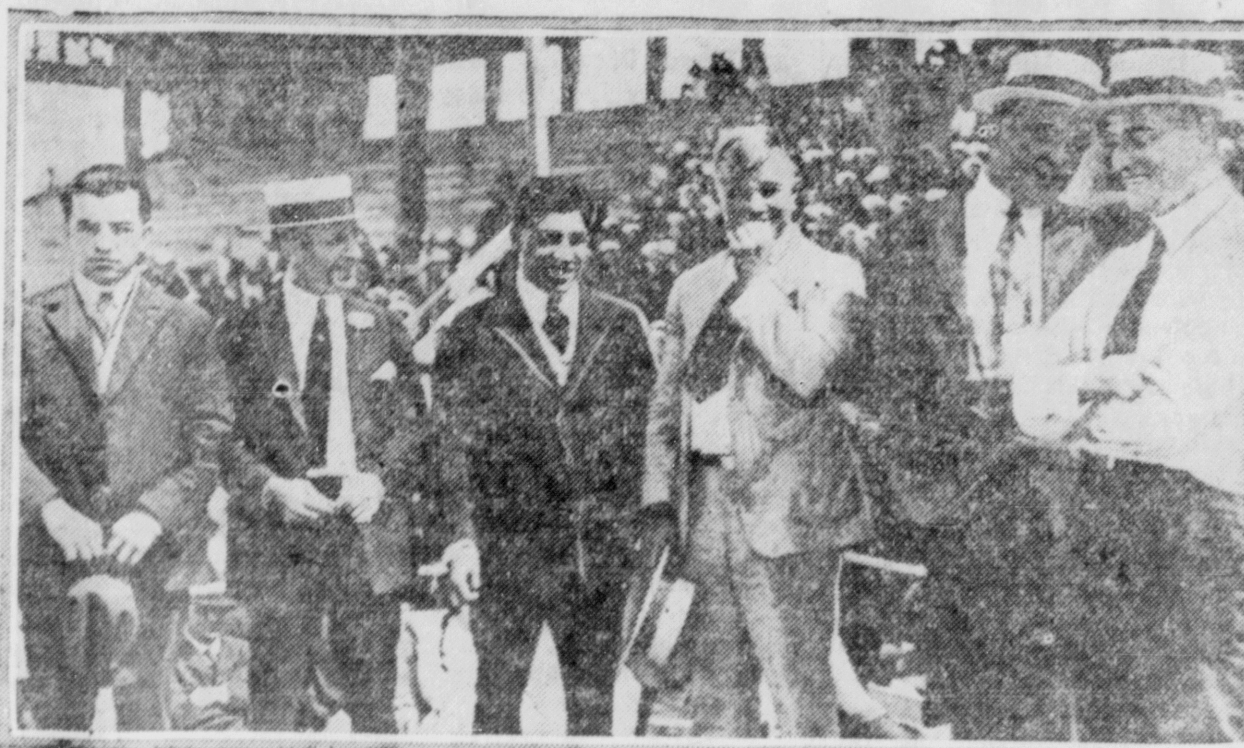

Umpiring

The plate umpire was Ole Newgard. On bases was Jimmy Williams, an old association player.

A novel line of umpiring was handed Brainerd in the eighth inning. With two out and Brainerd fighting for a chance to tie the score, Bessemer raps out the ball which struck foul. He beat it for first and half way down. Newgard says "Foul" and waves back the runner. Bessemer ran back to the plate. In the mean time the ball meandered from foul to fair territory and Newgard reverses his decision and says "Fair ball." The catcher deliberately picks up the ball and shoots it to first and Bessemer was out.

Accordingly when playing Stillwater it will be necessary for Brainerd to beat out every foul, make first, sit on the bag and wait for a decision and pay no attention to any umpire's signal waving a man back to

When The Day Is Over

When the household cares and the worries of everyday life have dragged you down, made you unhappy, and there is nothing in life but headache, backache and worry, turn to the right prescription, one gotten up by Dr. Pierce fifty years ago.

Everything growing out of the ground seems intended for some use in establishing natural conditions. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found out what is naturally best for women's diseases. He learned it all through treating thousands of cases. The result of his studies was a medicine called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for backache, headache, weakening, bearing-down pains, irregularities, pelvic inflammations, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is made of lady's slipper root, black cohosh root, unicorn root, blue cohosh root and Oregon grape root. Dr. Pierce knew, when he first made this standard medicine, that whiskey and morphine are injurious, and so he has always kept them out of his remedies. Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic so good that druggists everywhere sell it, in liquid or tablet form.

Supposing that, beginning tomorrow, all the newspapers are discontinued. What a furore the public would make. "News! News! We must have news or we will be no better off than the ancients." "All right, suppose we give them news but cut out the advertisement."

Then we would discover that politics, the doings of society, notices of fires, accidents, deaths, scandals, sports, the activities of the police and criminals add little or nothing to the real comfort and happiness of this greatest age in the world's history.

What geni are they that have crowded the last fifty years with so much of advantage of human? They are legion in number, but not least among them is Advertising.

Our day is the greatest time the world has seen because we have more to be happy with, better things, greater variety greater comforts gathered together from the North, East, West and South for our choosing and selection. Look about you. This is the day of better food, better homes, better clothing, better babies, better health, better business. And advertising is the instrument that makes these better things possible.

Advertising is the NEWS of all the looms, of all the furnaces, of all the laboratories, of all the shops, of all the stores, of all the world and all working for you.

Because of advertising, luxuries and necessities that once cost a king's ransom are yours at little prices. Advertising pits merchant against merchant, artisan against artisan, producer against producer, for your benefit, forcing out the best there is in everything and telling the world about it.

Read advertising. Keep abreast of today. Advertising furnishes you with facts and opportunities that you would otherwise never know.
